Connecting to the cloud via Colt PrizmNet

Colt's PrizmNet financial services extranet provides a secure, high performance, reliable, cost effective and efficient network platform form for Providers of content or applications to connect to Consumers of their content or applications.

As more and more business undertake digital transformation projects and move workloads into the cloud, there is a need for extranet connectivity to enable content and application providers hosted in the cloud to connect to their customers, and vice versa.

Colt PrizmNet facilitates this connectivity by interconnecting with the nearest PrizmNet PoP or through our extensive network connecting 29K+ buildings & 900+ data centres to connect to multiple third party organizations via Colt PrizmNet. These interconnects, which also underpin Colt's award-winning Dedicated Cloud Access proposition, provide resilient and diverse connectivity to leading Cloud Service Providers (CSPs), and dedicated bandwidth between CSPs and the Colt PrizmNet network.

Connectivity to new third party organizations can then be ordered through the Colt PrizmNet portal, and implemented in a matter of days.

The Colt PrizmNet community in the cloud

By connecting to Colt PrizmNet, market participants can gain access to the entire community of service providers in AWS, Microsoft Azure, Google Cloud and IBM Cloud.

This includes but not limited to real-time and historical data from exchanges and market data vendors, as well as cloud based software vendors and fintechs. This capability is critical to running complex risk analysis with grid computing, building trading strategies and models with machine learning, and combining analytics with key trading data to meet regulatory reporting requirements and the capacity to enable blockchain as a service.
